Founder/CEO BIZL

"Using pensions.market meant that I could quickly and easily compare options and research which pension provider to use"

BIZL is a FinTech start-up based in London. Its a free service, where businesses can compare finance options and find the best loans from High Street lenders to challenger banks and alternative providers.

Automatic enrolment legislation applies to every new company as soon as that company hires a member of staff. That effectively makes selecting a pension provider another red-tape job that start-ups have to get done.

"I selected a pension provider based on the comparison information at pensions.market"

Josh Greenway Founder.

Pensions is an opaque market, with strange terminology and different options to consider: relief-at-source or net-pay-arrangement? Are employer charges value for money? Its difficult and time-consuming for small businesses to thoroughly research the autoenrolment market. Professional corporate advisers are often unaffordable.

This is where pensions.market helps. Its a free website which aggregates together and publishes publicly available information on leading pension providers. Our expert team then analyses that data and scores the providers based on 4 clearly understood perspectives:

1. The expert's perspective
2. An employee's perspective
3. An employer's perspective
4. The payroll industry's perspective

"The provider I chose had strong ratings from both the employee's and employer's perspective and they integrate with Xero payroll."

Josh continues: "This is my first time setting up pensions, so my knowledge of the market is minimal, and as with every small business owner my time is very limited.

pensions.market meant that I could quickly and easily compare options and research which pension provider to use."
